Not illustrated. 1909 Excerpt: .was followed by the creation, by the Board of Regents, of the office of chancellor, which was offered to the ex-president, with the continued use of the president s mansion. Boston has an outdoor school for tuberculosis children. It was begun last summer in an old orchard and proved so successful that it has been continued during the winter. In summer there was provision for resting as well as for work in gardening. At first few cared to play, but a week was generally enough to induce them to engage in quite active sports. Although sleeping at home, all these children improved, gained in weight and in spirits, and at the end of fifteen weeks nine of the thirty-two were discharged as arrested and sent back to their regular schools. The cost of operating the camp (borne by voluntary subscriptions) was a fraction over twenty-five cents...
