The future success of the Armys prepositioning program depends not only The Army Faces on how well the Army aligns its efforts with those of the department as a Major Strategic and whole, but also on how well long-standing management issues are addressed as the new strategic plan is implemented. The Army expects to Management finalize its implementation plan for the revised Prepositioned Stocks Challenges As It Strategy 2013 by December 31, 2006, but DOD will not complete its departmentwide strategy before mid-April 2007. Further, problems persist Revises and with the Armys management of its secondary item and operational project Implements Its stocks programs, including lingering questions about the overall requirements and the lack of reliable readiness measures for these Prepositioning programs. In addition, the lack of a comprehensive prepositioning storage Program and maintenance facilities plan contributes to increased maintenance costs and uncertain future facility requirements. Finally, the Army has not demonstrated adequate oversight to ensure the proper maintenance condition of prepositioned stocks. The Army is developing a new prepositioning strategy to address recent Alignment between Armys decisions that have affected the viability of its existing plan. According to Prepositioning Strategy Army officials, the new strategy is intended to promote greater flexibility and Anticipated DOD in the use of prepositioned stocks while concurrently increasing the Strategy Remains Armys access to unstable areas. While continuing to rely on stocks in Uncertain South Korea, the proposed strategy includes significant changes to the program - among them, less reliance on heavy combat equipment afloat and expanded reliance on heavy equipment in Kuwait, Qatar, and Italy. The Armys draft revisions to its prepositioning strategy were approved by the Army...
